NOTES:

Government/Consular Advice: Bhutan is a small land-locked Himalayan monarchy. By treaty, it accepts the guidance of India in foreign affairs. The United States does not have full diplomatic relations with Bhutan and there is no U.S. diplomatic presence there. Consular issues relating to Bhutan, including assistance to U.S. citizens, are handled by the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi. Americans living or traveling in Bhutan are encouraged to register through the State Department's travel registration web site or with the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi to obtain updated information on travel and security within Bhutan.

For additional entry/exit information, please contact the Bhutan Mission to the United Nations

Health: Some HIV/AIDS entry restrictions exist for visitors to and foreign residents of Bhutan. There are no disclosure regulations or restrictions for HIV/AIDS patients who enter Bhutan on a tourist visas for a maximum two week visit. For longer stays applicants must present the results of an HIV/AIDS test completed within the six months prior to their visit.

Typhoid fever is common. Poliomyelitis eradication has begun and is reducing the risk, although it must still be assumed to be a risk. Malaria risk exists throughout the year in the southern belt of the following five districts: Chirang, Samchi, Samdrupjongkhar, Sarpang and Shemgang. Resistance to chloroquine and sulfadoxine/ pyrimethamine has been reported in the malignant falciparum form of the disease. A weekly dosage of 300mg of chloroquine and a daily dosage of 200mg of proguanil is the recommended prophylaxis. Hepatitis A and E occur; hepatitis B is endemic. Giardiasis is common. Meningitis is a sporadic risk and vaccination is advised. TB exists. Visceral leishmaniasis is prevalent and a small risk of Japanese encephalitis exists in southern lowland areas. Altitude sickness may be a problem.
