NOTES:

Entry & Exit Requirements: All U.S. citizens should always ensure that passports and important personal papers are in order in the event it becomes necessary to leave the country quickly for any reason. Yellow Fever vaccine within ten years is required only for those coming from a Yellow Fever endemic country.

Safety & Security: US citizens are encouraged to enroll in the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program, to stay current with the latest safety and security announcements dispersed by the Embassy in your area. Your enrollment can also help the Department of State reach your family and friends in case of emergency. U.S. citizens should also be aware of the potential for mob violence and 'popular justice' that is sometimes directed towards foreign nationals. U.S. citizens who feel threatened by large crowds should seek the direct intervention of local law enforcement and contact the U.S. Embassy immediately. There are random police vehicle checkpoints throughout Madagascar, so all visitors should carry photo identification (residency card, U.S. passport) in the event of police questioning. These checkpoints are routine in nature, and should not result in vehicle and/or person searches as long as valid identification is shown.

Crime: U.S. citizen visitors should remain vigilant, particularly in large urban centers and coastal cities frequented by tourists. Keeping windows rolled up and doors locked at all times. In addition, armed bandit attacks on vehicles carrying goods and people—specifically taxi-bes (which operate within urban centers) and taxi-brousses (which travel to outlying regions)—have increased. To reduce the risk of being victimized, travel in groups and avoid wearing expensive jewelry or carrying costly electronic items (iPods, digital cameras, or high-end cell phones) with you in public. One is strongly discouraged from traveling outside of cities after dark, due to banditry, lack of lighting, poor road conditions, and lack of security assets.

Currency: U.S. Dollars, Euros, or Malagasy Ariary. Credit cards are usually not accepted. Madagascar is primarily a cash-driven economy. Some high-end establishments catering to tourists accept only Visa-logo cards. The government changed the local currency from the Malagasy Franc (FMG) to the Ariary several years ago, many Malagasy still think in terms of FMG. When talking about prices, it is important to quantify whether the price is in Ariary or FMG (1 Ariary = 5 FMG). ATMs that accept Visa (generally not MasterCard) are available in large cities. Dollars are not widely accepted, and US $100 bills are frequently refused at banks and local businesses.

Health: While in Madagascar, individuals with disabilities may find accessibility and accommodation very different from that which is commonly provided in the United States. Public transportation vehicles are not equipped to accommodate passengers with disabilities. Outside of Antananarivo, the quality of care is very questionable. Most medications, generally of French or South African origin, are available in Antananarivo. If you need to refill a prescription from outside of Madagascar, it is important to carry a prescription from your health care provider listing the medicine's generic name, but it is best not to rely on re-filling medications in Madagascar as the availability varies. Travelers are advised to carry a supply of anti-malarial medication if traveling outside Antananarivo. U.S. citizens who will be carrying medications with them to Madagascar may wish to contact the Embassy of Madagascar in Washington, D.C., regarding any restrictions on imports.

Mosquito and other insects can carry malaria, dengue, chikungunya and other illnesses. Travelers should carry and use insect repellents containing either 20% DEET, picaridin, oil of lemon eucalyptus or IR3535. Treating clothing and tents with permethrin and sleeping in screened or air conditioned rooms under insecticide-impregnated mosquito. Malaria is prevalent year round. Using preventive measures and malaria prophylaxis is strongly recommended. Tuberculosis is more than 20 times more common in Madagascar than in the United States. Those planning on living in Madagascar should consider tuberculin skin testing before travel and then again 6-12 weeks after returning from Madagascar. Madagascar has recently instituted universal screening measures at international ports of entry and airports to help guard against the spread of Ebola, but no Ebola cases have yet been reported in the country.

Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials: Madagascar does not impose ISPM15 for wood packaging material (WPM).
