NOTES:

Entry & Exit Requirements: Visas may be required for travel for purposes other than business or tourism. The CDC recommends yellow fever vaccine for travel to Trinidad. However, CDC does NOT recommend vaccination if you ONLY plan to visit Tobago. Proof of yellow fever vaccination is required only if you are arriving from an infected area

Crime: The incidence of violent crime remains high on both islands and affects local and expatriate communities. Violent crimes, including assault, kidnapping for ransom, sexual assault and murder, have involved expatriate residents and tourists, including U.S. citizens. The perpetrators of many of these crimes have not been arrested. Burglaries of private residences are common. If you rent a villa or private home, the Embassy urges you to ensure adequate, 24-hour security measures are in place.

Scams: While Nigeria-operated scams are infamous for their cleverness and ingenuity, these types of financial scams are also common in Trinidad and Tobago.

Health: Dengue fever deaths were recorded in Trinidad and Tobago in 2010 and 2011. Dengue is the most common cause of fever in travelers returning from the Caribbean, and is spread through the bites of infected mosquitoes. Usually dengue fever causes a mild illness, but it can be severe and lead to dengue hemorrhagic fever (DHF), which can be fatal if not treated. People who have previously been infected with dengue fever are more at risk of getting severe dengue. There is no vaccine for dengue.

Traffic Safety & Concerns: Traffic moves on the left in Trinidad and Tobago. Most vehicles are right-hand drive, but left-hand drive vehicles are permitted. The penalty for talking or texting while driving is USD$240 or three months' imprisonment. In early 2010, Trinidad and Tobago begin administering breathalyzer tests at unannounced checkpoints and traffic stops when driving under the influence is suspected. The threshold is very low, while penalties are stiff and may include imprisonment and steep fines. The Beetham Highway, a main thoroughfare in and out of the city, is dangerous if your vehicle has broken down. There are regular incidents of persons running out into the road or throwing debris at cars – including masonry bricks – for the purpose of causing accidents and forcing cars to stop, whereupon a group of accomplices then descend upon the accident victims, robbing them of valuables, and often violently assaulting them, even if they are compliant. Elsewhere in Port of Spain, especially in Laventille, a growing number of “bump and rob” incidents have been reported, in which the perpetrator rear-ends the victim, often causing only minor damage. When the victim emerges from his car, s/he is then robbed of valuables, and possibly even his car. Some of these incidents have turned fatal, even when the victims are compliant. If you are involved in an accident in Laventille or on the Beetham Highway, if your car still drives, you should get out of the area, and get to a safe location before seeking help or assistance. Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials:

Effective 15 Sept 2005 all wood packing materials must meet ISPM 15 requirements.
