

Importing Personal Property Into Republic of Congo (Brazzaville)

CUSTOMS REGULATIONS AND REQUIRED DOCUMENTS

Customs Regulations:

All shipments are physically inspected. Used household goods and personal effects are duty free provided goods have been owned and used by the customer for a minimum of six months and customer has lived abroad for at least one year. The goods must be imported within six months of arrival.

All personal effects shipments, including diplomatic shipments are liable to payment of two taxes:

- 1) La redevance informatique (Computer tax) at 2% of CIF value
- 2) La taxe ARC (assurance) at 0.8% C&F value

It takes between 20 – 40 days to obtain the free entry certificate. All original documents should reach the Destination Agent a minimum of 15 days before the shipment's arrival to allow the client's employer to obtain the certificate of free entry from the Customs Head Office and minimize the port charges. Average clearance time for ocean shipments is 4 weeks and 1 week for air shipments.

Items can not be sold, lent or otherwise disposed of during stay.

NOTE: Pre shipment inspection is not required for personal effects shipments or second hand cars, but is required for shipments of new cars (even for those with diplomatic status)

COTECNA is the designated accredited inspection company. Please contact their representative in Origin country to set up the inspection.

NOTES:

Entry & Exit Requirements: Proof of Yellow fever vaccination is a requirement for entry. Keep a copy of your Passport and valid visa with you at all times in the event of questioning.

Visas: In the past every Congolese Embassy/Consulate issued its own unique visas for entry to the Republic of Congo. Now, the visas are supposed to be identical regardless of where they are issued. However, some Embassies and Consulates, including the Congolese Consulate in New York, have not started issuing the new universal visas. The new Congolese visas are a passport-page-size sticker with the outline of the Republic of the Congo map in the background. If you attempt to enter Congo with one of the old visas, you may be denied entry.

Customs: Those who seek to export arts and crafts at the airports are frequently subject to an export tax/solicitations for bribes from customs agents.

Safety & Security: The US Embassy advises against travel by road or rail between Brazzaville and Pointe Noire due to banditry. Be advised of events in the Democratic Republic of Congo as unrest in Kinshasa can also affect Brazzaville.

Crime: Criminal elements are known to target middle-class and affluent residences without 24-hour guards for burglary. Incidents of armed robberies, vehicle break-ins, mugging, and pick-pocketing have been reported near the ports, outside popular restaurants, as well as in the Congolese neighborhoods surrounding the city center in both Pointe Noire and Brazzaville.

Criminal Penalties: In the Republic of the Congo you may be taken in for questioning if you are stopped by the police and are unable to produce an acceptable form of identification. The police, however, routinely confiscate IDs in an effort to gain bribes from foreigners. For this reason, it is best to keep a copy of your passport on you at all times and keep your passport in a safe place where you can access it quickly if needed. If you travel within the Republic of the Congo, you should travel with your passport with you as you may be asked to register with immigration upon arrival in a new location.

Local security forces, especially traffic police, routinely detain foreigners to solicit bribes. Detention of U.S. citizens, particularly in remote areas, may not always be promptly reported to the U.S. embassy by Congolese authorities.

Currency: The Republic of the Congo is primarily a cash economy and uses the Central African Franc (CFA), a common currency with Gabon, Chad, Cameroon, the Central African Republic, and Equatorial Guinea. U.S. dollars may be exchanged for local currency. CFA are not available outside the CFA zone and there are tight restrictions on traveling with currency. If you are caught attempting to leave the country in possession of CFA, airport authorities may confiscate all of your local currency. There is one ATM in Brazzaville that accepts foreign debit cards at the Credit du Congo Bank. ATMs at several of Credit du Congo's branches in Pointe Noire also accept foreign debit cards.

Health: An outbreak of acute poliomyelitis (polio) virus began in October 2010, with cases in Pointe Noire,

BPL COMPANY LTD

Brazzaville, and most other parts of the Republic of the Congo. In response to the outbreak, the Government of Congo in cooperation with the World Health Organization has launched a nationwide emergency vaccination program. As of January 2011, the vaccination campaign appears to have halted the spread of the virus. Yellow fever vaccination is required. Cholera is a serious risk and pre-cautions are essentials. Immunization against polio and typhoid is strongly advised. Malaria exists year round throughout the country. Hepatitis A and B are present. Meningococcal meningitis A and C have been reported and immunization is advised.

Fumigation of Wood Packing Materials: As of this posting Republic of Congo does not impose ISPM15 regulations for wood packaging material (WPM).
